

Funding program for the use of one of the platforms of the Quebec Respiratory Health Research Network

Are you using one of the platforms of the Quebec Respiratory Health Research Network (QRHN): the biobank, the Covid biobank, the biomedical telematics laboratory, the bioaerosol analysis platform or the lipidomics platform (<https://rsr-qc.ca/en/programmes-financement/>)? As a member of the Network you can apply for funding of up to $3,000/year for a project that uses one or more of these platforms.

Program specifications:

- The research project must involve at least 2 regular members of the QRHN from 2 different institutions but may belong to the same university.

Funds will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis starting April 1st, 2021 upon receipt of the application until the funds are exhausted.

-The use of the allocated funds can be done over more than one year depending on the progress of the work or the availability of the material (biobank).

- The funds will be transferred directly to the platform(s) for the services invoiced.

-Funding in relation to a research project is renewable.

- Only one (active) research project can be funded with this program / year / principal investigator.

-A project already funded by the Network (Team-project, mentoring program) cannot benefit from the program. An investigator may, however, benefit from this grant for a research project that is not the subject of a QRHN grant.
